Art Unit: 3653

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 10, 16, 17, 19 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 10, the language "a combination of movable and stationary sheet separator pads" is indefinite as being unduly vague. This language does not clearly define any structure or structural relationship between elements to enable a determination of the structure encompassed by the claim.

In claim 16 line 3, the language "a combination of movable and stationary sheet separator pads" is indefinite as being unduly vague for the reason given above for such language in claim 10.

In claim 19 lines 5-6, the language "a combination of movable and stationary sheet separator pads" is indefinite as being unduly vague for the reason given above for such language in claim 10.

In claim 21 line 4, the language "a combination of movable and stationary means" is indefinite as being unduly vague. This language does not clearly define an arrangement of movable means and stationary means to enable a determination of the arrangement of such means encompassed by the claim.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3653

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-16 and 18 through 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Teo et al

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Note the movable pad 203, 205 movable between a first position in which it impedes a leading edge of sheets fed from the stack and a pair of stationary pads 106 (opposite the elements 101 of the feed roller assembly). See Figure 2. Note also the movable pad 203, 205 (first feature of claims 11-15, 18 and 20) is biased toward the first position (see column 5 lines 55-64).

5. Claim 17 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
6. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: The terminology "first movable feature" and "second stationary feature" lacks antecedent basis in the specification.
